Federation of Labour President Mary Shortall thanks NLNDP Leader Lorraine Michael for her contribution and dedication to working people and their families.

St. John's – The Newfoundland and Labrador Federation of Labour (NLFL) paid tribute to the work of outgoing New Democratic Party (NDP) leader Lorraine Michael thanking for her for long-standing commitment to issues affecting all workers in Newfoundland and Labrador.

“Our province has benefitted greatly by the principled and dignified manner in which Lorraine spoke on issues affecting all workers and broader social justice.” said President Mary Shortall. “A true democracy requires a strong opposition, and Lorraine and the NLNDP have been a strong advocate for issues that matter to working people of this province. Issues such as minimum wage, affordable housing, progressive labour legislation, and poverty reduction.” Stated Shortall, “Lorraine’s leadership has ensured that the voice of working people was always represented in the House of Assembly.”

Shortall emphasized, “The NL Federation of Labour, its executive and members, look forward to working with the new leader, rebuilding the party and to continue advancing those issues that are important to working people and their families.”
